

One little, two little, three little witches.
Fly over haystacks, fly over ditches.
Slide down moonbeams without any hitches.
Hey, Ho, Halloween Night!

One little, two little, three little witches.
Fly over barb wire and tore their britches.
Had to go home and get some stitches.
Hey, Ho, Halloween Night!

One little, two little, three little witches.
Fly over haystacks, fly over ditches.
Slide down moonbeams without any hitches.
Hey, Ho, Halloween Night!

One little, two little, three little witches.
Fly over barb wire and tore their britches.
Had to go home and get some stitches.
Hey, Ho, Halloween Night!

Name: _____

One little, two little, three little witches.

Fly over haystacks, fly over ditches.

Slide down moonbeams without any hitches.

Hey, Ho, Halloween Night!

One little, two little, three little witches.

Fly over barb wire and tore their britches.

Had to go home and get some stitches.

Hey, Ho, Halloween Night!

1. Use a red crayon: Underline two compound words in the first stanza.
2. Use a blue crayon: Underline words with "itch."
3. Use a pencil: Scoop the phrases (use punctuation to help you).
4. On the back, illustrate the solution to the problem in the poem.

